

Questions for September 29

Note: there is no reading for today, but there are some questions for you to think about.

Background:

On Tuesday, we looked at what five of the most important philosophers in the history of Western Philosophy have to say with regards to beauty. Today, we will discuss your own views on the subject. Instead of our normal class meeting, we are taking a field trip! We will meet in class and walk over together. Before class, you should identify an artwork in the museum that you either think is beautiful or ugly and answer the following question about it.

Questions:

1. If you think your artwork is beautiful, why do you think it's beautiful?
If you think it is ugly, why do you think it's ugly?
